Select Poetry.

TO A YOUNG MAN OF THE PERIOD.

BY A PRACTICAL YOUNG LADY.

You need not ask to press my cheek—
Too cheeky that would be by far;
'Tis useless, sir, to sing each week
That I'm your own and guiding star.
I know no lane but Drury Lane
Where we should meet when clocks strike nine;
And what's the use, you stupid goose,
Of calling me your Valentine?

You need not buy a silly sheet
Of tinsel'd note, stuck o'er with doves,
Where idiotic creatures meet
To tell, in trashy verse their loves.
I'm not a mild, raw school-girl now,
To gush with rapture at a line;
So, 'tis no use, you stupid goose,
To send me now a Valentine!

Saint Valentine's a worthless saint,
To deal in naught but scrawls and rhymes,
We can not live on cakes of paint
In these expensive modern times,
Love's offerings now should take a shape
Substantial, solid, sound and fine;
But 'tis no use, y u silly goose,
To post me as your Valentine.

On many things you might expend
Your money with much better taste;
And if a pound on me you'd spend,
Don't that same pound on paper waste.
A box of gloves, a scent case, fan,
A brooch, a bracelet, gems that shine;
There'd be some use, you dear old goose,
In sending such a Valentine!

Think, ere your money you invest
On Cupids, dart, or senseless dove—
He loveth best who payeth best
For useful presents to his love.
"What present should you send?" I'm plain,
A plain gold ring is in my line!
There'd be some use, you dear old goose,
In such a solid Valentine.

Once a Week.

History of the 49th Pennsylvania.

BY A. B. HUTCHISON,
Late Captain of Company 'C.'

CHAPTER VII.

Harrison's Landing—Sickness in the Army—Visit of the President—March to Fortress Monroe—Soil to Acquia Creek and Alexandria—March to Centreville—Battle of Bull Run—March back to Alexandria.

On the morning of the 5th of July, our lines being established, we commenced fortifying our portion, by building a line of rifle pits and redoubts, inclosing our camps in a semicircle, the flanks resting on the river. The woods in our front, mostly pine forests, growing in a swampy country, were cut down to give range to our artillery. Our works were strong, and built with care, consisting of but a single line, however, and strengthened by forts at the angles. The ground was low and wet, and the water, generally, of a very inferior quality. As the season had previously been wet, there was no scarcity of this necessary element at first, though in time we had to dig wells. Our wells were made in this manner: A hole, about six feet in diameter, was sunk to the depth of eight or ten feet. At this point we generally found a quicksand, in which digging was impossible, as the soil was liquid, and could be dipped like water. Barrels were, accordingly, procured, and, their heads being removed, were forced down through the sand and water, one on top of another, to the number of two or three. The sand and water was then rapidly dipped out of the inside of the barrels, which soon filled with water, of a bluish cast, and not remarkably pleasant taste, nevertheless the best the country afforded. An inclined ditch was then made from the top of the barrel to the surface, steps being dug in it, and the top of the well closely covered with timber and earth. This formed our best and most convenient source of water supply.

While we remained in camp at Harrison's Landing, the weather was dry, and the sun warm. The effect of the hot sun upon the vegetable matter, exposed by our cutting away the timber, created miasma, and fevers became universal in the camp, and that of the severest types. Of our regiment, at one time, half the men were sick, and typhoid fever carried off more of our force in one month, than we had lost previously, during the entire campaign. This state of affairs existed throughout the army, to a greater or less extent, and depleted our strength faster than reenforcements could recruit it. It seems remarkable, as we look back, that the army was retained here so long, under such circumstances.

While at Harrison's Landing, the President paid us a short visit. He rode along the lines by moonlight, accompanied by General McClellan. Our regiment refused to cheer on this occasion, as most of the others did, saying that they meant no disrespect to either the President or General McClellan, but that they knew of no good reason why they should cheer. Most of our labor here was accomplished at night, or early in the morning, the days being too hot for work. Our camps, in time, were shaded by green boughs, placed on frames, and, as the Sanitary Commission sent a cargo of ice to the army, we improved our condition considerably.

On the 11th of August, we commenced our march down the Paninsula. We were glad to be in motion again, and almost indifferent as to where we should go.—We were the last troops to leave the old camps, and moved but a short distance the first day. The green corn, just in season for cooking, was a luxury to the army, and no difficulty was found in procuring ample supplies, as this rich country was mainly planted with corn. Near Charles City Court House, General McClellan was standing in a stream of water, urging the men to ford it without halting, so as to urge on the column, which conduct had, of course, a great effect upon the men, though some saw in it evidences of apprehended difficulty, while others imagined it was done for effect, as much as to hasten our crossing. We passed the Chickahominy at its mouth, crossing on a pontoon bridge, about a thousand yards in length. This was, at that time, the greatest feat in the use of the pontoon that had ever been attempted, and I am not sure that we have ever since used a longer one. We encamped and passed the night on the mouth of the Chickahominy, and resumed our march early in the morning, bidding farewell, for many months, to this historical stream. On this day, the 15th of August, we passed through Williamsb'g, and over the fields where we fought our first battle. It was almost humiliating to recollect how much our hopes were disappointed, since last we passed by these old works, little expecting then that we should ever have to march back—our work unaccomplished, and our enemies victorious. We encamped near an old mill, about two miles from the scenes of our first battle, and made our suppers, as usual, of green corn, gathered on the march. Next morning we were again in motion, passing down the road to Yorktown. The day was very warm, and our men suffered for want of water. At Yorktown we found some troops who had come out for thirty days, who furnished subjects for raillery and practical jokes to our men. They were very clever, however, doing all they could to supply us with water, and quietly expressing the opinion that we were exceedingly dirty, in which they were correct. We encamped near the location of some of Yorktown's old fortifications, and enjoyed baths in the blue waters of York river. A peach orchard near us suffered, too, from the attacks of our men, although the peaches were scarcely ripe, amongst the earliest varieties.

Next day we marched to a point near Great Bethel, and encamped for the night. This day was very warm and dusty.—Our next day's march brought us to Fort Monroe, or rather, Hampton, where we awaited our turn to get on board the transports for Acquia creek. At last our time, and boat, came, and we were soon on board, and moving out into the stream. We had two schooners in tow, loaded with horses, artillery, hay, &c., and, as the wind was against us, lost them in the night, the cables having parted. After a slow and tedious trip, we arrived at Acquia creek, only to be ordered to proceed to Alexandria, which announcement pleased all, greatly. Accordingly, we steamed for Alexandria, arriving there on Sunday morning, the 24th of August. We moved out to camp, a few miles from the town, and remained here several days. While here, news of the fighting and retreat of General Pope's army were constantly being received, and there was great excitement and uncertainty. The 12th Penn'a Cavalry came into our lines, scattered and broken, having been attacked at Manassas Junction, and dispersed, or captured. At times our communication with Pope's army was completely severed. Still, as our entire corps (the sixth) remained quietly in camp at Alexandria, we did not apprehend that our troops in front were greatly pressed, but supposed they intended to make good their retreat to the defences of Washington.

On the 29th of August, however, we were ordered to march at daylight, and the entire corps were in motion at a very early hour. We took the road to Centreville, and moved out about six miles, to Annandale, where we halted, and went into camp at about 10 o'clock, A. M.—We remained here until next morning, when we resumed our march towards Centreville. Soon after we started, the sound of cannonading was heard, and continued all day, as we marched along. As we neared Centreville, the evidences of the battle increased, and we expected fully to encounter the enemy in a very short time. When we reached the heights at Centreville, we could see the smoke of the battle, the firing of artillery, and bursting shells. It was the second battle of Bull Run, and our confused and retreating troops, meeting us as we passed out towards the field, told us it was disasterous. We soon all fell back to the works at Centreville, taking position for the night. Bull Run was lost; yet the sixth army corps had no part in the battle, except to witness the defeat of our troops in the evening, when, by marching on, instead of going into camp on the previous day, we might have changed the fortunes of a battle, and the course of a campaign. General Porter was cashiered for failing purposely to co-operate in the operations of this day, and there are many who believe that the commanding officer of the sixth army corps failed to have his troops on the same field, purposely to secure the defeat of the hated General Pope. The battle was lost; Pope was ruined, and nothing was left us but retreat to Washington.

Accordingly, on Monday evening, September 1st, we commenced to move back towards Alexandria. In the evening, in the midst of a rainsterm, the enemy fell on our flanks at Chantilly, and attempted to get possession of the road. They were repulsed, and the way left open; but we lost, in this action, General Stevens and General Philip Kearney, of our army, both officers of great character and merit. We encamped at Fairfax Court House in the evening, and resumed our march next day, only halting when we were again inside the forts at Alexandria.

An Interesting Letter.

The following letter from Hon. Chas. Huston, formerly one of the Judges of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, written to Major Hepburn McClure, of Williamsport, was read at the close of the proceedings of the Second Annual Dinner of the Lycoming County Bar, February 22d. It gives so much good advice to young men starting in life, that a general opinion was expressed by the members of the Bar present that it should be published.

BELLEFONTE, March 11, 1843.

DEAR SIR:—I received your letter some days ago, and omitted to answer it immediately because some of my family were sick and I not well at the time of receiving it.

To every young man at his outstart in life it is a question, and one always considered of great importance where he should settle; although it is less so than is generally supposed, and the advice and directions given to a young lawyer on the subject are generally wrong. In the first place it is of infinitely less importance where a young man settles, than it is how he conducts himself, for on the latter and this alone his future situation and standing must ultimately depend. I know of no instance where a youth of good character, prudent conduct, and good sense, accompanied by constant industry, has failed to acquire a competence and at length wealth; and I know of none, whatever were their supposed talents, who without those requisites, have risen high in their profession or have died rich. Set out, then, with a determination to use all your abilities and all your powers in your profession—be temperate, be studious, associate with those who are both temperate and studious and of good moral character, and depend on it, you will succeed wherever you are.

Young men are apt to make two mistakes. They wish to find a place where there will be no competition. There is no such a place; and if there was, it is not the right place for a youth who wishes to rise in his profession. Indolence and inattention are the rocks from which there is most danger; when you know your opponent will understand the facts of his case, and will look into the law, you must do so too.

Next, a youth wishes to become an eminent lawyer and get into full practice at once. And this is impossible. He may get practice, but he can't be an eminent lawyer till after years of hard study, and constant and deep reflection; and if he gets practice and is found not qualified to conduct it, he soon looses it, and his second start is more difficult than the first.

Men often say of a youth that he has a fine genius, but he won't study; or they say he has not a fine genius, but he is very studious. Now, each of these expressions are directly contrary to the truth. That (miscalled) genius which won't study, is perjness or thoughtlessness, and not genius. All men of sterling genius have been studious—some more and some less so; but all studious and have risen in the world in proportion to their acquirements. Knowledge of any kind is the result of study and and reflection, and eminence in every station is the result of knowledge.

With respect to speaking in public, it is as much a trade as any of the manual occupations called trades, and is acquired in the same way—viz., by practice. We all have the rudiments of it; we all speak in conversation and reason in argument; and when we understand the subject, speak with ease to ourselves and satisfaction to those conversing with us. So in Court, listen patiently to your client's story, examine his witnesses and be sure you understand all the facts of the case. Then examine the law. Don't depend on Digests or indexes; but turn to the cases and read them carefully till you understand the principles fully. When the cause comes on, you will then be sure of not making any mistakes in fact or law, and you can speak without fear of any great mistake; this will give you confidence, this is the only thing which can give a rational confidence. Remember that first speeches have some difficulty and are never very great speeches; but they may show sense, and reflection, and knowledge. Fluency and great power of oratory come by practice and are the results of that, and much knowledge.

There, I have written a long letter and not told you where to settle, and I can't tell any more. In an old country you will not get many causes at first: but if you follow my advice, they will increase and when you get into full practice in an old and rich country, you can lay by money.

In an entirely new country there are but few causes and the clients poor, and the half of the business of the country will only support a man and family.

I end where I began. Your success wherever you are must depend on yourself; and if you are not wanting to yourself, will come wherever you are—sooner or later according to the time and chance which happens to all men—but come it will.

Give my affectionate respects to your mother, and for yourself, accept the assurance of anything my friendship can do for you.

The Good-Bye.

"George—George?"

"Well, what's wanting now?"

The young husband turned back the door knob, and there was impatience in his tone and annoyance on his brow, as he answered his wife's call.

"Nothing, only baby and I want to kiss you good-bye," and she came toward him, the little, graceful, sweet voiced woman, with her baby in her arms, and held up the soft face to his cheeks, and the little one crowed, and thrust up its dimpled hands, and clutched the short thick locks triumphantly.

"Oh, you rogue, you'd like to pull out a handful of papa's hair, wouldn't you, now," laughed the merchant, in a tone so unlike his former one that you would not have recognized it, and he leaned down and kissed the small, fragrant lips.

"Now it's my turn," and Mrs. Williams smoothed away the rumpled hair, and kissed her husbands forehead; and as he went out of the house that morning, a new softness and peace had erased the troubled look from the man's face.

That day it was appointed to George Williams to pass through a sharp and fearful temptation. He was in the midst of a commercial crisis and his heaviest debtors had failed that week, and now ten thousand dollars was due, and there was no way to raise the sum, unless—

He held the pen irresolutely in his shrinking hand. The veins were swollen on his forehead, and the breath came thick and fast betwixt his lips; a few scrawls of that pen, a solitary name at the bottom, and the young merchant could secure the ten thousand dollars, and his business credit would be safe. There was no sort of doubt, too, but he could raise the money in a few days, and thus secure himself from all discovery, and the pressing circumstances of the case certainly showed some liberty in financiering.

So whispered the tempter, as he walked up and down the soul of George Williams, always softening down the word forgery into some false name, which totally changed to his perceptions the moral complexion of the deed he was about to commit.

The young merchant's eyes glared all around the office, but there was none to see him then; he dipped his pen with a kind of desperate eagerness into a tall, porcelain inkstand, and he drew it along the paper, when suddenly his hand paused, struck by a thought—the memory of his wife's kiss that morning.

He saw her as he saw her last, standing in the door, the baby in her arms, her sweet face full of motherly tenderness and wifely trust as she lifted it to him in parting; the voice of the tempter passed away under the rush of holier emotion which blurred the man's eyes. He dashed down the pen.

BELLEFONTE, PA.

Wednesday Morning, April 14, '69.

ADJOURNED.—Congress adjourned on Saturday the 10th inst and the President issued a Proclamation Calling an extra Session of the Senate.

Glorious News from Connecticut.

In Connecticut, on the 5th inst., the Republican party gained a most glorious victory. In spite of the frauds and herculean efforts put forth by the rebel Democracy, JEWELL, the Republican candidate for Governor, and the whole State ticket were elected by majorities ranging from 500 to 1000. The Republicans gained two members of Congress, DIXON, the Johnsonized renegade, having been defeated. Truly, it may be said, Connecticut gathered up her Jewels on the 5th inst.

The State Legislature is Republican by a large majority, thus securing the ratification of the Fifteenth Amendment by that State. This was the issue presented in the contest. The Democrats cast their all upon this, entered the fight, and were most gloriously whipped. Last spring when there was no "nigger" in the issue, the Democrats carried the State by over 3,000 majority. The last prop has been knocked from under them. Whipped in Connecticut, the land of steady habits, and that, too, upon the question of negro suffrage! Heart sick, chapfallen, chagrined and disgraced, where will this rebel, traitor, tory crew turn up next? Is there no hope, no rest for "sich" as these? Echo answers no rest for "sich thieves"! With the mark of CAIN upon its brow, this rebel horde, constituting the Democratic organization, is being driven from every State, and from christian society—from the society of the patriotic, enlightened and honored men of the land. They sought to destroy the life of the Nation. In the darkest hour of her peril, when even the christian's heart sank within him, and who, for the time, almost forgot the promise of God Almighty, that "in evening-time there shall be light," these sham Democratic rebel scoundrels were found fighting against the Constitution of our fathers, against the Government, against human liberty and civilization, aye, fighting against the great GOD himself. For it has been beautifully said that the surrender of LEE and his rebel armies was not so much a victory to GRANT and the Nation, as it was to JESUS CHRIST and his equalizing, ennobling and blessed Gospel.

The Republican party is the instrument under GOD, that saved the Government, and to it he has consigned the work of reconstruction, and the perpetuation of our liberties. Let the rebel horde wince, let copperheads and the friends of slavery and a monarchical Government gnash their teeth and write bitter things against the friends of human liberty and the Republican party, they can accomplish nothing.—The great GOD is with us, and around and about us like a wall of fire, and all the enemies of the Republic, in earth or hell, cannot prevail against us.

All hail, Connecticut!

GUBERNATORIAL.—In another column will be found a communication recommending Gen. HARTRANFT, now Auditor General of the State, as a candidate for Governor. This, we think, is right. We are pleased to know that the people are beginning to move in the matter. While we have no particular objections to Gov. GEARY's renomination, and while we pledge him our most hearty support if nominated, nevertheless we think that the way to secure harmony, and an Appomattox victory in October next, is by a thorough ventilating and canvassing of the merits of the different aspirants before the meeting of the Republican Convention.

What we want is the nomination of the strongest and best man we have in the organization, without regard to claims, cliques or factions. The way to ascertain who is the most able and competent man to lead our great party to victory in the coming contest, is by a full and fair discussion of the merits and demerits of the different aspirants.

We are pleased to hear from our "Benner" correspondent. Our columns are open to others who may desire to be heard on this subject. The people should speak out, and now is the appropriate time. The REPUBLICAN affords you a good medium thro' which to speak. It is, most emphatically, the people's organ, and not the organ of any Clique, Faction or Ring.

Rhode Island follows Connecticut! In the election a year ago her Republican majority was 4,309. In 1867 it was 4,194. now, in spite of the general apathy of the year following a Presidential election, and with a vote only about one-half as heavy as last Fall, we have carried the State by 4,808. Well done, Little Rhody! And now let us all keep silense, while the Democrats reckon up their gains, and point to the great re-action against Grant's Administration!

SINCE the new jail has proved a failure, the taxpayers are anxious to know who is to blame for this useless expenditure of there money, the Contractors or the Democratic Commissioners. Will the Watchman Explain?

The "Watchman" Sighs for a Monarchy!!!

The Watchman, last week, contains an editorial entitled the "Three Wonders," in which the Editor betrays the object and aims of the treasonable organization to which he belongs. After pouring out the vials of his wrath upon the "infidel, fanatical, revolutionary Yankees of New England," and after having exhausted the whole catalogue of billingsgate upon the "wretched, miserable, bloody-minded despots—"the whole heard of Radical swine," he breaks forth in the most piteous strains, and sighs for a monarchy.—"He sickens at the sight." What a pity it is that the sickness of the poor, miserable ignoramus, and incorrigible fool, is not unto death. We dislike hard names. They are not genteel.—They convince no one. They can never supply the place of argument, of rhetoric or logic. But we have got tired listening to the epithets and low, vulgar, foolish and contemptible appeals of these worse than idiotic Editors who assume to speak through the columns of the Watchman for the Democratic party of this county. If such trash, such empty, low-bred, treasonable, damnable, tory trash suits its readers, then are they hail fellows well met, and anything we may say, or any advice we may give, would be worse than wasted. We shall, therefore, obey the injunction of SOLOMON, and "Answer a fool according to his folly, lest he be wise in his own conceit." "The legs of the lame are not equal, so is a parable in the mouth of fools." "A whip for the horse, a bridle for the ass and a rod for the fools back." "Every prudent man dealeth with knowledge; but a fool layeth open his folly."

These Editors demonstrate their foolhardiness by sighing "for such a tyrant as CROMWELL," "for a tyrannical Congress having some of the power of the Barebone parliament," "for a despotism which would crush the iron grasp of CHARLES V., or a PHILIP.—Yes; these tory, rebel scoundrels want a monarchy! We have always believed this. Their advocacy of free trade, their sympathy with the rebels during the war, and their vulgar abuse of patriotic men since the WAR abundantly prove it.

Gen. GRANT, who, by the blessing of GOD, and the strong arms of the "boys in blue," saved the life of the Nation, and who now fills the highest position in the gift of American freemen, is spoken of by these miserable, uneducated tools of an organization cursed of GOD, and despised by all decent men, in the following language, to wit—

"A whiskey-soaking, cigar-sucking blundering, puling, blubering, weak-kneed, weak-hearted imbicile."

Speaking of the brave Generals BUTLER, SCHENCK, GEARY, LOGAN and BURNSIDE, who sacrificed the comforts of home, and bared their breasts to the storms of leaden hail, poured in upon them by the most damnable of traitors, GEN. LEE, and his wicked and ignorant, though it may be mis-guided followers, they have no praise for these.

"They are cowardly, murderous, "wretches, all of them."

The Union Generals are stigmatized as murderous because they "murdered" some of the rebel Democrats of the South, rather than permit them to destroy the Government.

Speaking of the leaders of the Democratic party he says:

"Look at our strength! Our WOOD-"WARDS, our VALLANDIGHAMS, our "SEYMOURS, our PENDLETONS, our "DOOLITTLES, our HENDRICKS, &c., "&c. Among our military men we "find enrolled the names of LEE, Han-"cock! HAMPTON, Rosecrans! HILL! "Buel! JOHNSON, McCandless! Mc-"Clelland! &c. (the &c., means the rest of the Rebel officers.)

Why do the Editors of the Watchman name the Rebel Gen's LEE, &c., first? Do our readers, or the honest portion of the Democratic party want any further proof of the damnable and treasonable proclivities of these blathering, fool-hardy, contemptible tory "wretches." How many loyal hearts will ask in the name of GOD what has HANCOCK done that he should be placed side by side with LEE? What has he done to merit the forgiveness of the Watchman, for the part he took in the "Abolition war" the "unholy crusade" against "our Southern brethern?"

Will the intelligent and honest portion of our Democratic party never open their eyes to the light? Will they go on for ever acting with the Rebels and those who sympathise with them all through the Rebellion? If you can continue to do this, then you can honor the TORIES, the BENEDICT ARNOLDS of the Revolutionary war. You can applaud JUDAS ISCARIOT who betrayed his best friend with a kiss, and sold the world's REDEEMER for thirty pieces of silver.

A SENSIBLE minister of the Gospel is the Rev. Dr. Newman, of the Metropolitan (Methodist) Church of Washington. On Easter day, having been requested to give out a large number of notices, he announced from the desk that "as profusely and widely circulated as was the American press, through the columns of which such notices could be properly laid before the public, he did not deem it fair that the minister should be made an advertising medium." Those penurious hypocrites who would make the pulpit the medium for advertising their schemes, are of the class who put a dime into the contribution box and take out a quarter.

FOR THE REPUBLICAN.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—Your article urging a timely consideration of the subject of the Gubernatorial nomination, and weighing the claims of the present Executive will, no doubt, be acceptable to many. But there are others who would estimate differently the merits of Gen. Geary. However, it is but justice to him to say that he brings to the public work a sincere purpose for good, an earnest employment of all his faculties, and that with wise and prudent advisers the affairs of the State would be well administered in his hands.

And if all the petty cliques and bitter feelings which must arise in a great party by the attention of various interests through a term of years can be harmonized by the re-nomination of Gov Geary, and the party be enabled to meet the grave issues of the coming contest with its whole force unimpaired by dissentions, then, we say, let him be our nominee, and let us unite heartily in his support.

But, on the other hand, if it is tho't that the strength of the Republican party can not be rallied for Gov. Geary, and the great interests of the country must suffer from devotion to party rules and usages, let us look about for a standard-bearer, stronger in the confidence of the people, some one known, honored and above reproach. Tho' the hills and valleys of Pennsylvania hold many such, yet to none can precedence be given over our present Auditor General. With a nature exhibiting the rare union of high intellectual powers, with executive abilities—the man of thought, and the man of action, with a patriotism tried and proven by the grand ordeal of the battle field, Gen. Hartranft acted in the varied positions of his public life to the complete satisfaction of the people, and twice has their appreciation of his services been confirmed by overwhelming majorities in his favor.

With such a man to marshal the forces of the Republican party, all the dissentions would melt away, warmth and enthusiasm would fill our ranks, and the contest of the coming autumn would be the grandest victory of our party triumphs, and our beloved old Commonwealth would have, at its head, a man not to be moved to wrong by the clamor of factions, the pressure of monopolied interests or the fawning of parasites.

BENNER.

YESTERDAY the gallows was called upon to vindicate outraged law and repeat its impressive lessons to society. George S. Twitchell, Jr., and Gerald Eaton were tried for murder, and found guilty by a jury of their countrymen. The former slew a helpless woman, secretly, in her own house. The latter killed a fellow-citizen upon the public streets of the city. Twitchell quaked before his doom, and added murder of self to that of his mother-in-law. He preferred cowardice and the ignominy of suicide to the ignominy of the scaffold. Eaton met the fate the law provided for him. Which will fare best before the Judgment seat? And now that the law has been both vindicated and cheated, society should thunder wholesale condemnations against the prison disciplin, or the violation thereof, which allows promiscuous intercourse of the public with prisoners condemned to death. The sympathy they need is that of retirement and freedom from the public gaze; and if we understand it, this exemption is in accordance with the spirit of the verdict. Why allow men to be tortured to death by the curious? Why force the pangs of hell upon convicts ere their hour has come? Had Twitchell been let alone his hands would have been clean of his second murder.

Again, every lover of peace and good order should thank the authorities for providing an example to those who, in utter disregard of their surroundings, and in blind obedience to bullying and depraved natures, indulge in indiscriminate assaults upon the public. We know not how many, but very many murders were committed last fall which were without extenuating circumstances, save that whisky was in, passion was on, or the crowd was too great for successful identification. The coward who thrusts or shoots under such circumstances should be taught that partisan friends are not mightier than the law, and that this kind of assassination is the worst type of murder. We hope the example provided will have the result intended, else will Eaton also have cheated the law of its motives.—Press, April 9th.

AFTER all "Yankees" sometimes do some things not so bad. Not to speak of New England civilization in particular, the little city of New Bedford has a free library, the product of public tax mainly, numbering 21,000 volumns, which is increasing at the rate of about 1000 annually. The city appropriates every year $2,500 for its support, and there are funds which yield $200 more. It is kept open every day, except Sundays and holidays, for about nine hours a day, and of its books upwards of 34,000 volumes are taken out all in the course of a year. We know of a city with five times the population of New Bedford where "Yankees" is a term of reproach that has no free library at all, and scarcely a library of any kind; and where the citizens so far from taxing themselves for such a purpose seem to think that money thus bestowed, or in any manner bestowed for libraries, is about as bad as thrown away. And here it is that the "Yankees" differ from those who think it is something smart to speak of them disparagingly.

Our Washington Letter.

WASHINGTON, D. C. April 9th '69.

DEAR REPUBLICAN:—According to all appearances, the adjournment of Congress, which is fixed for to-morrow, will have considerable general business unfinished, aside from the large number of Offices, for which, as yet, no nominations have been made. No opinions are hazzarded as to the probabilities of an extra session of the Senate being called by the President, although there is a remarkable unanimity of feeling among the expectants, whose turns have not yet come that if an extra session is not called, somebody will have failed in his duty, which, among those holding over there is a general belief that an extra session was never as little needed as at present.

In proportion as the day of adjournment draws near, the pressure upon Senators and Members increase, and the Heads of Departments, "Levees," are more numerously attended at present, than they have been for years. Congressmen universally agree that the sight of a man who does not want an office is beneficial to weakened optics, but that such sights are "like angel's visits—few and far between." Our office-seeking friends (if we have any) will please make a note of the fact, that no personal reflections are intended; we are merely indulging on a little fling against the mania, as is the fashion everywhere.

The nomination of General James Longstreet, to the Surveyor of the Port of New Orleans, has been confirmed at last; but it is believed that the nomination of the ex-rebel Col. C. C. Crowe, of Alabama, to be Governor of New Mexico, will be reported upon unfavorably by the Senate Territorial Committee. The confirmation of Longstreet was bitterly opposed by many of the leading Senators, and barely a quorum was present when he was confirmed. A majority of the Republican Associations of the City have passed resolutions adverse to the nominations or confirmation of ex-rebels to any offices of trust or profit, under the United States Government. While we would not go the whole length of these resolutions, believing it to be given to the "repentant ones" as an earnest of the willingness of the Government to overlook the past offenses of those who show themselves truly anxious to atone for their crime, we do think that nominations from this class of men, should me made sparingly, and considered carefully, and we are both pained and surprised at the alacrity with which a journal of this city, claiming to occupy a leading position in the Republican ranks, conjures up a good record for every one of these ex-rebel nominees; sometimes so good a one that the service in the C. S. A. is not mentioned at all. We don't think it at all proper that one-armed or one-legged soldiers of the Union Army, or even men who did nothing more than give of their means, and vote right, should have a shadow of reason for complaining that service in the rebel army is a good recommendation, provided it has been followed, either actually or professedly, by a proper degree of repentance.

It was rumored yesterday evening that all the heads of Bureaus in the Interior Dept. had been informed that their resignations would be accepted, but (although it is believed something of the kind will be done, as the present heads seem determined that the country shall not lose their services while they can help it) up to this hour the report needs confirmation. Speculation is rife as to who will be the new appointees, but it is the common opinion that the Indian General, Ely S. Parker, will be the Commissioner of Indian affairs, and Dr. T. B. Hood, of Illinois, late Surgeon U. S. A., Commissioner of Pensions. For the Land Office, Hon. J. M. Edmunds of Michigan, the late Commissioner, seems to be the most prominent candidate, while the names of a half dozen distinguished gentlemen are mentioned in connection with the Patent Office.

Fewer changes will probably occur in the War Department than in any other, owing to the fact that military men are at the head of its various Bureaus, and therefore are rarely changed. The office of the Quartermaster General will be removed about the first of May, from the building now occupied by it, to the one opposite the Treasury Department, lately used by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue. The clerks are in high glee at the prospect of their escape from the barn-like edifice in which they now hold forth, and their removal will be a benefit to the city also, as Mr. Corcoran, the proprietor, proposes to thoroughly finish the building inside, and donate it to the city, for the purpose for which it was originally intended—an ART GALLERY. The building is excellently adapted to this purpose, being, so far as the outside is concerned, one of the most imposing structures in the city, but it is far from being a model, or even comfortable, office-room, as hundreds of unfortunates can testify.

Before another letter reaches you, "that railroad meeting" will have been held. We hope Centre county will do her duty, and remember that the eyes of "all who wish to get from Washington to Bellefonte and parts adjacent, inside of twelve hours, are upon her representatives."

Truly yours,

KAPPA.

JOHN T. JOHNSON has been appointed Post-Master at this place.

Message from the President.

WASHINGTON, April 7.—The following message of the President was received by Congress at 4 o'clock this afternoon:

To the Senate and House of Representatives: While I am aware that the time in which Congress proposes now to remain in session is very brief, and that it is the desire, as far as is consistent with the public interest, to avoid entering upon the general business of legislation, there is one subject which concerns so deeply the welfare of the country that I deem it my duty to bring it before you. I have no doubt that you will concur with me in the opinion that it is desirable to restore the States which were engaged in the rebellion to their proper relations to the government and the country at as early a period as the people of those States shall be found willing to become peaceful and orderly communities and adopt and maintain such constitutions and laws as will effectually secure the civil and political rights of all persons within their borders.

The authority of the United States, which has been vindicated and established by its military power, must undoubtedly be asserted for the absolute protection of all the citizens in the full enjoyment of their freedom and security, which is the object of a republican government. But whenever the people of a rebellious State are ready to enter in good faith upon the accomplishment of this object, in entire conformity with the constitutional authority of Congress, it is certainly desirable that all causes of irritation be removed as promptly as possible, that a more perfect union may be established, and the country be restored to peace and prosperity.

The convention of the people of Virginia, which met in Richmond on Tuesday, December 3, 1867, framed a constitution for that State, which was adopted by the convention on the 17th day of April, 1868; and I desire respectfully to call the attention of Congress to the propriety of providing by law for the holding of an election in that State at the same time during the months of May and June next, under the direction of the military commander of the district, at which the question of the adoption of that constitution shall be submitted to the citizens of the State, and if this should seem undesirable I would recommend a separate vote be taken upon such parts as may be thought desirable, and at the same time and under the same authority there shall be an election for the officers provided under such constitution, and that the constitution, or such parts thereof as shall have been adopted by the people, be submitted to Congress on the first Monday of December next for its consideration, so that if the same is approved the necessary steps will then have been taken for the restoration of the State of Virginia to its proper relations to the Union. I am led to make this recommendation from the belief that the people of that State are now ready to co-operate with the national Government in bringing it again to such relations to the Union as it ought to enjoy, as soon as possible to establish and maintain, to give all its people those equal rights under the laws which were asserted in the declaration of independence, in the words of one of the most illustrious of its sons. I desire also to ask the consideration of Congress to the question whether there is not just ground for believing that the constitution formed by a convention of the people of Mississippi for that State, and once rejected, might not be again submitted to the people of that State in like manner, and with the probability of the same result.

U. S. GRANT.

WASHINGTON, April 7, 1869.

SECRETARY Boutwell is going to "lop off all worthless and inefficient officers and clerks." Economy, in this case, like charity in all, should begin at home. Let Mr. Boutwell ask the heads of bureaus in the Treasury department to report immediately the name of every clerk who can be spared without injury to the service, and let him remove at once every such person, and he will, we can assure him, accomplish a very pretty piece of economy, besides causing a tremendous commotion among Congressmen and other people of influence.

EGYPTIAN CORN! EGYPTIAN CORN!

Auspicium melioris ævi. Bona fide. Quid pro quo!

THE subscriber offers to farmers throughout the country, the which upon trial, was found to ripen, planted the last of July. It is estimated, from its very prolific qualities, to yield 150 bushels per acre, and weighs, by sealed measure, sixty-five pounds to the bushel. This corn was pronunced by some procured direct from Mr. Jones, our consular agent, directly on his return from Egypt.

It needs no different culture from that of other varieties, and in the South two crops can be raised in one season on the same ground. It grows in the form of a tree, and thirty-four ears have grown upon one stalk, and will average from five to fifteen. For domestic use it is unparalled. When ground and properly bolted, it is equal in color and fineness to wheaten flour. As a forage crop, by sowing in drills or broadcast, for early feed, there is no kind of corn so well adapted to milch cows, and none that will yield half the value of stalk corn.

It can be successfully grown in any State.

I give the most satisfactory references that the corn is, in every respect, what I represent it to be; and further, I am the only person throughout the country who has this corn. Having secured a quantity, I am now able to fill all orders for those desirous of testing it.

TERMS.—In order that all may receive seed, we have reduced the price to one dollar and fifty cents a package. Any person who will get up a club of five will receive a package gratis—Fifteen packages for $16, Fifty packages for $20. One hundred packages for $30. One package will contain enough to plant the following season from twenty to thirty acres; also directions for planting and cultivating.

BELLEFONTE, PA.

Wednesday Morning, April 14, '69.

THE Drug Store of F. P. Green was removed, on April 1st, 1869, from Brockerhoff's row, to the new Hotel of Bush & McLain, over the creek. Jan. 20tf.

FARM FOR SALE.—Bond Valentine offers his splendid farm, of 195 acres, with in one and a half miles of Bellefonte, for sale. For full particulars, inquire of Mr. Valentine, or at the office of the REPUBLICAN.

MILLINERY.—In another column of the REPUBLICAN will be seen the advertisement of Miss MATTIE BOALICH. She has opened quite an extensive Millinery Store at the Toll Gate, on the Bellefonte and Lewistown turnpike, about one mile from town. Miss Mattie understands her business, and deserves abundant success.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION.—Referring to the announcement of a Sunday School Convention to be held in Bellefonte, beginning the 18th of May next—see our advertising columns—We have been informed that Rev. Alfred Taylor, of Philadelphia, and Rev. Henry S. Osborne, L. L. D. of Easton, both among the most eminent of the Sunday School men of our time, have accepted the invitation to be present at the Convention. Others of equal celebrity, from whom the committee have not yet heard, are also expected.

MAJ. REYNOLDS.—This gentleman, having purchased the property known as the "Red Lion," on Allegheny street, has commenced the erection of a magnificent residence. The frame work is now up, and the building under roof. It is located about the centre of said lot, and commands a view of the entire city. What the style of architecture is, we are not prepared to say; but from the manner in which the building is braced, and counter braced, and the timber being very heavy, we can safely say, that it will be the strongest and best frame building in the city. The Major is sparing no pains nor expense to make it strong, beautiful, commodious and comfortable, and when finished, we understand, he intends to furnish it in the very best style, and occupy it himself. After all this is done, may we be permitted to suggest, that there is one very necessary article of furniture that the Major should procure for the parlor, if he would have his happiness complete, to wit: An old-fashioned sewing machine. No piece of furniture, either for use or ornament, is so necessary in any well arranged house. Without it, there is always

"An aching void,
The world can never fill."

The Major is one of our most enterprising citizens, and we would not, therefore, volunteer any but the best of advice.

TOBACCO.—Too many people use tobacco. We are sorry that we are one of the number. But there is one thing we never do, that is chew tobacco in church. It is a bad practice at any time, but it is disgraceful, and, we think, sinful to use tobacco in church, and besmear the floor of God's house all over with tobacco saliva. Father Gruber used to say that no gentleman would do it, and he was right—of course he was. Would any of our young men—would any man—go into the parlor of E. C. Humes, or into the parlor of any of his neighbors, and while there, bespatter the floor, or carpet, all over with the juice of the obnoxious weed? What opinion would be formed of the man, or boy, who would be guilty of such conduct? The unanimous opinion would be, that he was vulgar, without breeding or manners.

The church is a building dedicated to the worship of Almighty God. It is, therefore, God's house. Who is so much a slave that he cannot refrain from the use of tobacco for one hour? Who so thoughtless as to besmear the floor of God's house, when he would scorn to do the same thing in the house of his neighbor? We hope that the young men who occupy seats in the M. E. Church, will take the hint, and act accordingly. A little less tobacco, and more of Chesterfield.

SUNNY SIDE.—This is the name of the new town laid out by James R. & Cyrus T. Alexander, just outside the city limits, on the farm known as the Mrs. Simpson place. About one year ago the above named gentlemen purchased this farm, built two lime kilns, and J. R. built himself a very comfortable residence. C. T. having sold his residence in the city, to Sam'l Gilliland, Esq., of the firm of Howell, Gilliland & Co, has also built himself a handsome residence in Sunny Side. They have sold quite a number of building lots, and H. D. Landis, and twelve or fifteen other gentlemen, have purchased lots, and commenced building. We learn that the houses will all be completed this season. We hope the good work will progress, until the whole farm is covered with neat houses. There is no prettier locality in the country. All the conveniences of the city without the high taxes. Convenient to school—to church—to the mill, and to the blacksmith shop. Water, of the very best, in abundance. All these conveniences in the West, would cause a town to spring up, in the locality possessing them, in less than a week.

Mr. Coudrick has purchased a lot, and commenced making brick. The facilities for making brick are said to be superior to any in the county—the clay, sand and other necessary ingredients all, found in the same lot. It is the intention of Mr. Coudrick to build for himself a beautiful brick residence, in Sunny Side, this summer. The Messrs. Alexander deserve great credit for their enterprise; indeed, they are such clever fellows, that we cannot spare them out of the city; and, ere long, when Sunny Side is nicely built up, we will insist upon the city fathers laying their coils around you, and drawing you, nolens volens, into the city limits.

NEW HOUSE.—Jno. Breckbill is building a new house, in front of his old residence, on Spring street. It is a frame building, and already under roof. The carpenters are active and energetic men, and at the rate they are pushing things, it will not be long until Mr. Breckbill and family can occupy the house.

MUSICAL.—It is said that the braying of an Ass, or the lowing of a cow is, when heard in a forrest, considered musical. For the truth of this we cannot vouch; but we do know that our article on the new jail, last week, compelled the long-eared animal of the Watchman to tune his lyre and ope the Ass. It is said that this animal, when enraged, and, judging from appearances, one would very readily conclude that he had been in a rage ever since his birth, can roar most furiously, if not musically.

SERVICES OF THE EPISCOPAL CHURCH.—Bishop Stevens has appointed to be present at St John's Church, in this place, on the 22nd inst., to lay the cornerstone of the new church edifice, now in course of erection.

The ceremony of laying the corner stone will take place in the after noon; and on the evening of the same day, the Bishop will administer the rite of confirmation in the church.

In connection with this Episcopal visitation, the Convocation of Williamsport will meet at Bellefonte, and hold a series of religious services, commencing on Tuesday evening, and continuing through Wednesday and Thursday. The public are respectfully invited to be present at any or all of the services.

COUNTY COMMITTEE.—By reference to the advertiseing columns of the REPUBLICAN it will be seen that the Chairman of the County Committee has given notice to the members of said committee to meet in the Republican Club Room, Bellefonte, on Tuesday the 27th day of April, at'l o'clock P. M. for the purpose of electing a Representative delegate and also to choose Senatorial Conferees to elect Senatorial delegates to the Republican State Convention to be held in Philadelphia on the 23d day of June 1869.

It is hoped that every member of the Committee will see the nessesity and importance of being present at this meeting. It is a position of honor and not of profit, but it is nevertheless the duty of every member to be present and have a voice in the selection of the above named delegates.

CHOICE POTATOES.—Our friend Joseph Baker Esq., of Harris township, presented us last week with a choice variety of seed potatoes, consisting of the Calico, Harrison, Monitor, Strawberry, Shaker and early Rose. No man in the county, to our knowledge, has given so much attention to the culture of the Potatoe, as Mr. Baker. The above named varieties are said to be the very best. He has some new kinds in cultivation, of which we are not yet prepared to speak. We are informed by Squire Baker that he has in cultivation about 40 varieties, of which he considers the Harrison, by far, the best as a late potato. It is said to have yieled 600 bushels to the acre. The Early Rose has the greatest reputation for earliness. Persons wishing to obtain the best varieties of late and early potatoes would do well to apply soon to Mr. Baker.

At our County Fairs the Squire's potatoes, apples, chickens, and every other article exhibited by him draw the highest premium. We mention this fact to show the result of intelligent cultivation.

IMPROVEMENTS.—New houses are springing up all around us. Wherever we look, we see evidences of enterprise and thrift. Dan'l Derr, Esq., has erected a neat residence on the hill, near the jail. Mr. Miller is erecting one in the same locality. Several are being erected near the Cemetery, and five or six are being pushed to completion on Maj. Armor's hill, near the new and beautiful residence of Wm. Wolf, Esq. Charles McCafferty has ten under way, near Shortlidge & Co's lime kilns. On the reservoir hill, several neat little residences are being built. We think it safe to state that there are fully one hundred new houses now being erected in our romantic city.

Mr. Felty, of tombstone and marble-yard notoriety, is erecting a building opposite Bush's Arcade, on the lot formerly owned by Rev. Jas. Linn, D. D. We must have a market-house. Who will move in this matter? Bellefonte a city, and no market house! The thing is impossible. But come it must, and come it will; and, with four years more of Republican rule, and Republican prosperity, it requires no prophet to foretell the future of Bellefonte, and the inhabitants thereof.

BELLEFONTE ACADEMY.—In another column of the REPUBLICAN our readers will see the advertisement of Prof. J. P. Hughes, Principal of this Institution.—The next term opens on Thursday, April 15, under most favorable auspices. The school is inrreasing in numbers, and we are informed that another assistant teacher has been employed, who is a graduate of Princeton College, and an experienced instructor. He is expected soon, and to enter upon his work at the opening of the term.

We learn, also, that the services of a first-class lady teacher have been engaged. She has been an Associate Principal, for some time, in a female Seminary of high note, and comes well recommended. She will not, however, be able to enter upon her work here, before September next. Prof. Hughes is sparing neither pains nor expense in his efforts to build up a school of "first grade" in our town, and one of which we may well be proud. Citizens of Bellefonte, and Centre county, will you support and sustain him? Will you aid him to the extent of your ability in every conceivable way? Let us labor to build up a first-class school, that our sons and daughters may be educated at home, and not at some distant and expensive school, as has heretofore been the practice, as well as necessity. We are happy to say the necessity has been removed. We hope the practice will cease.

WHEELING ONE'S SELF.—Going to dinner the other day, says an exchange, we saw a little fellow, about two years old, sitting in a wheelbarrow, and trying to wheel himself. It struck us that many people in this world are often caught in the same act, and we shall always think hereafter: When we see a business man trusting everything to his clerks, and continually seeking his house, yet expecting to get along—he's sitting in a wheelbarrow, and trying to wheel himself. When we see a professional man better acquainted with everything else than his profession, always starting some new scheme, and never attending to his calling, his wardrobe and credit will soon designate him as sitting in a wheelbarrow, and trying to wheel himself.—When we see a farmer with an overabundance of "hired help," trusting everything to their management, his fence down, implements out of repair, and land suffering for want of proper tillage—too proud, or too lazy, to take off his coat and go to work—he's sitting in a wheelbarrow, and trying to wheel himself. When we see a man busily engaged in circulating scandal concerning his neighbor, we infer he is pretty deep in the mud, and is sitting in a wheelbarrow, and trying to wheel himself.

YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION.—Why is it that no effort has ever been made to organize the Y. M. C. A. in our city? Is it because there is too much sectarianism? Are the ministers of our Evangelical denominations culpable in this matter? We ask for information.—There is not another town in the State, containing the same number of inhabitants, that is without this Christian Association. Agitating the temperance question may be well enough, and asking the court to withhold licenses from saloons, and granting them only to hotels, thus creating a whiskey aristocracy—an embryo whiskey ring—may, or may not be right. But there can be no question, we think, that the organization of a Young Men's Christian Association will do more to save our young men and maidens, and fill our churches with young christians, than all other organizations combined. The drunkard should be saved, and our young men should be induced to avoid the bowl—the road that leads to death and hell. What means can be more successful than those pointed out by the Saviour of mankind: "I am the way, the truth, and the life."—If the churches fail to save, where can we rest a well grounded hope? How can they fail, only by their negligence, to use the means God has placed within their reach?

DEATH OF CAPTAIN I. W. POTTER.—We find the following letter in the Milwaukee Sentinel of the 8th inst., which we copy because it gives a fuller account of the circumstances attending the sudden death of Capt. Potter than has yet been received here. The tribute the writer pays to the memory of his late commanding officer, is both just and appropriate—in fact, so warm and heartfelt, that we could do little more than repeat what has been already so well and feelingly said. The grief for the unexpected loss of this brave and gallant officer, while in the maturity of life and the service of his country seems to be as general as it is deep and sincere.

SAN AUGUSTINE, TEXAS, March 3, 1869.

I feel it to be my painful duty to announce the death of Capt. ISWIN W. POTTER, Fifteenth United States Infantry, at Nocogdoches, Texas, on the morning of the 28th of February, 1869, of apoplexy. Captain Potter was formerly a resident of Watertown, Jefferson co., Wisconsin. He entered the service as a private in the Second Infantry. Wisconsin volunteers, under the first call by the President for troops to put down the rebellion, and served with credit to himself and regiment until the 11th of September, 1861, at which time he received the appointment of Third Lieutenant in the Fifteenth United States Infantry, with which organization he served thro' the war, and on the re-organization of the army was retained as a Captain in the same regiment, in which he has served until the day of his death.

The sudden death of Captain Potter has cast a shadow over our unusually happy circle, and his loss is, indeed, a severe one to his company and numerous friends. To know him was to love him. Always kind, courteous and just to his subordinates, it was ever a pleasure to serve under his command. A genial companion, a brave soldier, honest and conscientious in his dealings with men, a kind and loving husband. He leaves a young wife (now in Watertown Wisconsin,) to mourn his sudden death. None of us are capable of measuring his sudden death. We can only sympathise with the bereaved in this her great affliction.

At the time of his death, Captain Potter was commanding the regiment and the Sub-District of the Sabine, and during his short career as such he had met with many citizens, and won from them all golden opinions. His loss will be deeply regretted in Eastern Texas.

I understand that he was buried on the 2d inst., with military and Masonic honors. I regret that my duties prevented my attending the funeral, to pay the last tribute of humanity to my dear friend.

As a resident of Wisconsin, and a friend of the deceased, I feel at liberty to address you, thinking perhaps this letter may find a place in your columns. Although what I have said does not half do justice to his noble, manly qualities, or express the sentiments of my heart, it may meet the eye of some dear friend of his, and find a response in the breast of those who loved him best.

I am, sirs, very respectfully, your obedient servant,

A. C. TAYLOR
1st Lieut. 15th Inf., U. S. A.

ARMY RESOLUTIONS.

At a meeting of the officers of the 15th Infantry, held at the Head Quarters of the 15th Infantry at the Post of Nacogdoches, Texas, the following preamble and resolutions were adopted:

WHEREAS, It has pleased the Almighty God to remove from our midst our esteemed friend and brother officer, Capt. I. W. POTTER, 15th Infantry.

Resolved, That while we bow with submission to the decrees of the Divine Ruler of the universe, we would express our appreciation of the loss we have sustained.

Resolved, That in the decease of our brother in-arms we have lost a kind, genial and upright friend; his Company a just and considerate Captain, and the Regiment an officer who having been identified therewith from its earliest organization, has by his brave and generous conduct endeared himself alike to officers and men.

Resolved, That we tender our heartfelt sympathy to his bereaved wife and family in their dire affliction.

Resolved, That a copy of these proceedings be forwarded to the Army and Navy Journal and Watertown Democrat for publication.

SUNDAY SCHOOL MEETING.—In pursuance of a call, published in the county papers, and circulated through the mails, a meeting was held in Bellefonte, on Tuesday afternoon, April 6th, 1869, for the purpose of organizing a County Sabbath School Association. Delegates were present from the boroughs of Milesburg and Bellefonte, and from the townships of Miles, Ferguson, Harris and Spring. Jas. F. Weaver, of Milesburg, was chosen Chairman of the meeting, and James A. Beaver, of Bellefonte, Secretary. D. H. Hastings, Rev. B. McGann and A. B. Erhard were appointed a Committee to report a constitution for the government of the association. The report of the committee having been read by the Chairman, was received, and after considerable discussion, the constitution was adopted, article by article, as reported with one or two exceptions. A permanent organization was effected by the choice of the following named officers:—

President, James A. Beaver; Secretary, Geo. M. Yocum; Treasurer, H. Y. Stizer; Executive Committee, Rev. B. McGann, Rev. James Mullen, Rev. J. A. Hackenberg, Rev. J. P. Hughes, Rev. Thomas; James F. Weaver and D. H. Hastings, the present Secretary and Treasurer of the Association, being ex-officio members of the Executive Committee. Dr. C. Van Tries, Wm. Thompson, Samuel Gramly, Jas. H. Rankin and H. Y. Stitzer were appointed a committee to report the name of one Vice President for each tp. The report of the committee was received. Bellefonte was fixed as the place for holding the Annual Convention, the time to be fixed by the Executive Committee. The meeting then adjourned.

JAS. F. WEAVER,
JAS. A. BEAVER, Chairman.
Secretary.

REMONSTRANCE.—The following is a copy of the remonstrance now being circulated by the ladies of Bellefonte and vicinity. We presume it will be presented to the Court at the proper time:

To the Hon. Chas. Meyer, President, and his associate Judges, of the Court of Quarter Sessions, of the Peace, in and for the County of Centre.

The undersigned would most respectfully and earnestly present this, their remonstrance, against the granting of the applications of the several persons, each and all, applying to your Honorable Court, for license to traffic in alcholic liquors within the limits of this town and borough, and beg to submit the following reasons in support of the same:

First, Several of the persons so applying, are totally unworthy of the countenance of this Court; having, as we believe, and are prepared to show, violated the license laws of this Commonwealth, either, in selling without license, or selling on the Sabbath day, or to minors, and are meriting, rather to suffer the laws penalty, than to enjoy any privileges under it.

Secondly—We know, that as a community, we have suffered most severely in our dearest interests from the evil and destructive effects of this traffic. Many whom we have known, as giving promise of useful and honorable lives, have been struck down, as by some deadly plague, by the blight of Intemperance, and the evils which follow in its train; while families and friends have been brought to poverty, suffering and shame. Much of this evil, which we esteem the most wide-spread and destructive, that afflicts our community, we believe might be prevented by suppressing altogether, or as far as practicable, the traffic in intoxicating liquors within our town and borough limits.

Thirdly.—We appear before this Court with the more confidence, from the fact that we know that we represent the sentiment of a large majority of the moral and religious people of this vicinity, who have a special right to be heard in any matter concerning the public welfare, all of which we most respectfully submit, &c.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, Apr. 14, '69.

The Independent Farmer.

Let sailors sing of the windy deep,
Let soldiers praise their armor,
But in my heart this toast I'll keep:
"The Independent farmer."
When first the rose in robe of green
Unfolds its crimson lining;
And round his cottage porch is seen
The honeysuckle twining;
When banks of bloom their sweetness yield
To bees that gather honey;
He drives his team across the field,
Where skies are soft and sunny.

The blackbird clucks behind the plow,
The quail pipes loud and clearly;
The orchard hides behind its bough,
The home he loves so dearly.
The gray old barn-doors do enfold
His ample store in measure;
More rich than heaps of hoarded gold
A precious, blessed treasure;
While yonder in the porch there stands,
His wife, the lovely charmer,
The sweetest rose in all his lands,
The independent farmer.

To him the Spring comes dancingly,
To him the Summer blushes;
Autumn smiles with mellow ray,
His sleep old Winter hushes;
He cares not how the world may move,
No doubt or fears confound him;
His little flock are linked in love;
With household angels round him.
He trusts in God and loves his wife,
Nor griefs nor ills may harm her;
He's Nature's nobleman in life,
The independent farmer.

Wheat on Clover Ground.

Professor Voelock, in a recently published valuable report on this subject, arrives at the conclusions which we epitomize below. They are the result of very careful estimates and experiments, and must command the attention of all interested in wheat culture. Whatever may be said of his particular conclusions, there can be no doubt of acceptance of the general one in favor of clover, as furnishing the elements most needed for a good growth of wheat.

1. A good crop of clover removes from the soil more potash, phosphoric acid, lime, and other matter which enter into the composition of the ashes of our cultivated crops, than any other crop usually grown in this country [England].

2. There is fully three times as much nitrogen in a crop of clover, as in the average produce of the grain and straw of wheat per acre.

3. Notwithstanding the large amount of nitrogenous matter and of ash constituents of plants, in the produce of an acre, clover is an excellent preparatory crop for wheat.

4 During the growth of clover, a large amount of nitrogenous matter accumulates in the soil.

5. This accumulation, which is greatest in the surface soil, is due to decaying leaves dropped during the growth of clover, and to an abundance of roots, containing, when dry, from 1½ to 2 per cent. of nitrogen.

6. The clover roots are stronger and more numerous, and more leaves fall on the ground when clover is grown for seed, than when it is mown for hay, in consequence, more nitrogen is left after clover seed than after hay which accounts for wheat yielding a better crop after clover seed than after hay.

7. The developement of roots being checked when the produce, in a green condition, as fed off by sheep, in all probability leaves still less nitrogenous matter in the soil than when clover is allowed to get riper, and is mown for hay—thus, no doubt, accounting for the observation made by practical men, that, notwithstanding the return of the produce in the sheep excrements, wheat is generally stronger, and yields better, after clover mown for hay, than when the clover is fed off green by sheep.

8. The nitrogenous matter in the clover remains, on their gradual decay, are finally transformed into nitrates, thus affording a continuous source of food on which cereal crops specially delight to grow.

9. There is a strong presumptive evidence that the nitrogen which exists in the air in the shape of ammonia and nitric acid, and desends in these combinations with the rain which falls on the ground, satisfies, under ordinary circumstances, the requirements of the clover crop. This crop causes a large accumulation of nitrogenous matters, which are gradually changed in the soil into nitrates. The atmosphere thus furnishes nitrogenous food to the succeding wheat indirectly, and, so to say, gratis.

10. Clover not only provides abundance of nitrogenous food, but delivers this food in a readily available form (as nitrates) more gradually and continously, and consequently, with more certainty of a good result, than such food can be applied to the land in the shape of nitrogenous spring top-dressings.—Hearth and Home.

Growing Potatoes--Best Way.

To grow potatoes to the best advantage, is to grow them after the English system. They have their rows about two and a half feet apart, and the seed dropped ten to twelve inches in the row. This gives uniformity of size, the object aimed at; for this uniformity, avoiding the two extremes of large and small tubers, is productive of quality, a fine tender grain, removed from the coarse and the watery.

This course will secure potatoes of a more uniform size, and yet the same, or more, in quantity. There are no hollow ones, few small ones; they command a better price in market, and are equally good, or better, to feed.—This is the practice of the Irish in this country, who have emigrated here, as we have seen. There is less growth of vine, and more, in proportion, of fruit. It took the English many years before they perfected their system,

The great requisite, aside from what we have stated, is to keep the soil mellow and free from weeds.—This favors moisture, a necessity of the potato. It also improves the fertility. Be not afraid to work the soil deeply, either before or after planting though the potato will grow on soil covered with straw, or on a rock, if soil is given it. But in a drouth this would be fatal. Deep working of the soil remedies this; and our seasons have more or less of drouth.

After the soil is worked for some time, a coat of straw may be given it. This may be a heavy coat, and will prevent the sun from striking the ground; and as the straw (white) is a non-conductor of heat, the ground will be comparatively cool in a drouth—in great heat—and not the colder in cool weather. This is successful practice. Without the straw, the cultivator must be used, or the plow—anything to work the soil. We must earn our potatoes if we wish to have them.

We can have them; they are a sure crop, now that the disease is overcome; and as the potato will admit of early planting—earlier than anything almost that is put out, the crop may thus be made a large crop.

But, have a dry soil; also (equally indispensable) a light soil. This our slate or sandy ridges will furnish. New land is excellent; there is the light, burnt topsoil which favors it. So is sod, well rotted. We have had our best, or among our best, potatoes in sod with a mellow substratum. Avoid, if possible, the heavy clays; though with a mixture of long manure we have succeeded here.

The potash in new land favors the potatoes there; so does it in almost any soil. Use sparingly of strong manures, unless the soil is quite poor.—The cleanings of the stable are not so good as vegetable mould. This contains the carbon to make starch of.—It is grateful to this fruit, and makes a clean bed for it.

A dry soil, then, light and mellow throughout, kept mellow, with ashes and vegetable matter to feed it, and proper planting as to distance and time. F. G.

Shearing Sheep by Steam.

The Melbourne, Australia, correspondent of the Alexandria Courier contributes the following: "I saw a machine at work the other day which is likely to cause a great change in the sheep farming interest; it is no less than a machine to shear sheep by steam, and from what I saw of it, it is likely to be a complete success. The machine is made of brass, something in the shape of a small trowel; the motion is got up by a turbine wheel about two inches in diameter, and this is geared into another wheel on which is fixed a cutter; in front is a comb, which serves as a guide, and against cutting the skin of the sheep. The steam is conveyed from the boiler by a tube of India rubber; this tube, or pipe, is double, having one inside the other; the inner one is the injection, and the space between the two is the ejection. The machine can be handled quite easily, and will be used just in the same fashion as two shears, but will cut much quicker and far cleaner, without the least danger of injuring the fleece of the sheep. It is expected that it will be completed and publicly tested in time for this season's clip. The inventor has been about three years at work on it, and has just got it into a perfect state."

Timely Hints.

See that the work harness are in good repair, and well oiled for the spring work.

Hunt up the clevices and the clevis pins.

Examine the horse-rake, and see if the teeth are missing, or any of the wood or iron work broken; if so, mend it up.

Look well to the mower and reaper, to see if repairs are needed, or are likely to be. If so, order them from the agent.

Notice if any harrow teeth were lost last season; if so, get new ones made.

Count over the hay forks, hand rakes, hoes, spades, shovels, and see how many handles are broken; if any, get new ones for them.

Overhaul the wagon hay "racks," and see what needs to be done to them, and do it.

Make a thorough examination of the cultivators and seed drills and see if repairs, in any respect, are wanted; and if so, make them.

Take a look at the scythes and cradles, to see if the nibs and heel wedges are all right.

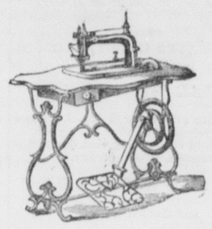
There are a great many little things, like the above, that should be seen to before the spring work is fairly commenced. It saves time, trouble and expense if these "chores" are done up in season.

TO PREVENT RUST ON PLOWS.—A correspondent of the Rural World says: None but the plowman knows the advantage of having a bright plow. The writer has tried a great many articles to prevent plows and other agricultural implements from rusting. There is nothing so good and handy as patent axle grease. I have used tallow, paint and Japan varnish, but the axle grease is always convenient and easily applied.

MISCELLANEOUS.

AMERICAN BUTTON-HOLE OVER-SEAMING AND SEWING MACHINE COMBINED.

MEDAL AWARDED AT THE PARIS EXPOSITION, 1867.



In directing attention to the celebrated COMBINATION BUTTON HOLE AND SEWING MACHINE, we feel fully warranted in claiming for it unquestionable superiority over all others as a Family Machine.—The Simplicity, Ease and Certainty with which it operates, as well as the uniform excellence of its work, certainly place it far it advance of any other similar invention of the age.

It is also the cheapest, intrinsically, as well as the best, since it is really two machines combined in one, (by a simple and beautiful mechanical arrangement never before accomplished by human ingenuity,) making either the Lock Stitch or Button Hole Stitch, as occasion may require. It is, at the same time, simple in construction, comparatively noiseless, easily understood, and, in a word, it combines with those advantages exclusively its own the most desirable qualities of all others, for it not only does every variety of sewing in a SUPERIOR MANNER, but in addition OVERSEAMS splendidly and makes beautiful BUTTON and EYELET HOLES in all fabrics. This is far beyond the capacity of any other machine.

The SPLENDID MECHANISM of this Machine, and the superior skill workmanship and materials employed in its construction, are a guarantee of accuracy, strength and durability, and enable the company and its agents to Warrant Every Machine they sell to give entire satisfaction.

INSTRUCTIONS GIVEN ON THE MACHINE GRATUITOUSLY.

Lessons may be taken if desired with a view to test the Machine, or to become better acquainted with it before deciding to purchase. Samples of work will be furnished upon application at
